

It would be very unfair for this action to happen as then the phone companies could charge what ever they like or have no access at all. I depend on the internet for my new business and it is hard enough to keep afloat without my rates jumping to a level I can not afford. How would you like it if per say your house payments jumped to four times the monthly payment? I know, your rich so who cares about us little guys trying to make ends meet.